

- This task is more of an experiment.
- Draw abstract shapes, colours or/and textures that come to your mind. Interact with your material in an intuitive process, so you don't have to worry about the direction you are going to. You can work with the relationships between your elements as well if you would like to. Save the drawing. Edit your drawing at least in one step digitally, and send the edited one to the next person.
- The result would be a series of our abstract paintings.
